Great Cure In East London.

At the back of the Mile End-road was once a house of sorrow and sadness. Up to eighteen months ago Rebecca Emanuel bade fair to sustain the reputation of her race for the beauty of its womankind. Then the first symptoms of illness presented themselves. She became emaciated, and worn-looking; from being brimful of healthy energy, she became so weak that the least exertion was too great to be borne, and all her friends gave her up for lost.

"We all thought there was no hope for her," said her mother, to a reporter of the East London Advertiser who called at No. 1 Beaumont-square, "Rebecca could not even go upstairs by herself. As soon as she had got up two or three stairs she would have to stop. Her heart palpitated so much, and she was seized with such fainting fits that she was absolutely helpless. Even a walk out of doors was impossible, for over and over again Rebecca would be taken with a fainting fit and have to be carried home. Then it was that we read of the wonderful cure of Mrs. Hayden, of Colborn-road, and we thought that even if a trial of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills did no good they would, at all events, do no harm. So we got a box, and the immediate improvement was most astonishing. But there, you can see for yourself," said the mother as Rebecca entered the room—a graceful young woman of nineteen, looking the very picture of health, and of most vivacious manner. It was hard to imagine that but a few months ago she was lying on a sick bed, the despair of her relatives.

"I was as ill as anyone could be," she said. "I could scarcely walk, to go upstairs was impossible. I shrank from my food, and could do no work of any kind. For four months I was under the care of a doctor, who certainly did all he could for me. I was induced to try a box of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. The change was marvelous. Before I had used half the box my appetite began to return, the palpitation of my heart ceased, the fainting fits departed, and I began to feel a changed girl. I persevered with a second and then a third box, and the cure was complete.

"Now," continued Miss Emanuel, "I can do my work without any weariness. I can go for a long walk without any fear of being overtaken with a fainting fit. It is now four months since I left off taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and although I have worked hard since, I have not felt the slightest return of my illness. I have not the slightest doubt as to the permanency of the cure."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are not like other medicine, and their effects are permanent. They act directly on the blood, and thus it is that they are so famous for the cure of anemia and rheumatism, scrofula, chronic erysipelas, and to restore pale and sallow complexions to the glow of health. They are also a splendid nerve and spinal tonic, and thus have cured many cases of paralysis, locomotor ataxy, neuralgia, St. Vitus' dance, and nervous headache. Sold by all dealers in medicine.

Camping Season is Coming

WHEN YOU GET OUT INTO THE MOUNTAIN

we can be with you. The memory of a well-stocked larder in your camp will help the enjoyment of the scenery—picturesque or majestic, as it appeals to the eye. The climate—genial, bracing, rejuvenating—will be aided by good groceries. Whatever you do rusticating, hunting, fishing, riding, boating, wheeling, mountain climbing or in valery reposing our goods are the best and necessary accompaniments. The season for this sort of thought and action is upon us. All the world takes an outing once a year—if it doesn't, it ought to. While making up your mind where you will go, put these places before your mind's eye:

ON MAUI—Haleakala, Lahaina, Waikapu, Makawao, Hana, Kula, Kahului, Haiku, Makana.

ON KAUAI—Hanalei, Hanapepe, Lihue, Koloa, Waimea, Nawiliwili and Kawaihau.

ON HAWAII—Kilauea and Halemau-mau, the rainy city, Kapapala, Kealahua Bay and Dr. Lindley's Sanitarium, Waipio, Kohala, Puna, Kona, Lanipohoe and Hanalei.

ON OAHU—Waikiki, Tantalus, Puu-waiua, Olympus or Leahi, Makapuu and Mokapu, Waianae, Pearl Harbor, Remond Grove, Moanalua and Manoa.

The Islands of Lanai, Molokai, Kahoolawe and Niihau.
